Foster + Partners named first choice for graduates in independent survey

Foster + Partners has been voted by students as the top architecture firm in the Where Graduates Want to Work survey. The poll was conducted as part of the Graduate 100 Awards and the winners were announced at a ceremony in London last week.

Mouzhan Majidi, Chief Executive of Foster + Partners, commented:

Our practice has always been based on a creative blend of youth and experience and each year, our graduate recruits bring a new perspective and energy to our studios. It is pleasing to have the quality of our work, and the people that make Foster + Partners such a great place to be, recognised with this award.
