Lord Browne of Madingley joins Foster + Partners as Senior Non-Executive Director

Foster + Partners is delighted to announce the appointment of Lord Browne of Madingley to the board as senior non-executive director. Lord Browne will chair various committees and will have an input into the strategic direction of the company.

Lord Browne will join founder and chairman Lord Foster, chief executive Mouzhan Majidi and other senior executives on the board as well as Steven Nicholls, head of UK Growth Capital at 3i, the private equity company which has recently invested in Foster + Partners.

"I have known John for many years and it is a great pleasure to welcome him to the board of Foster + Partners. He brings extraordinary and unequalled expertise in business combined with knowledge and passion for the arts, and we are enormously pleased that he has agreed to share his invaluable experience with us."

Norman Foster, Founder and Executive Chairman

"Lord Brownes depth of knowledge will be of huge benefit to the shaping of the strategic direction of the practice. The future of Foster + Partners is guaranteed to be very exciting and we look forward to long term growth and stability."

Mouzhan Majidi, Chief Executive

"I have long admired both the work of Norman and the business excellence of Foster + Partners - both of which are respected throughout the world. The investment by 3i in the business heralded a new and exciting chapter of growth and I am delighted to join the board at this pivotal moment for the company."
